The Vietnam War was arguably the most controversial war in American history. What made the war so divisive and controversial, more-so than other wars in America’s history? What movements arose out of this controversy to protest the war? Finally, what were some of the lessons that Americans took away from the Vietnam War?